ON 'N' CHANGE.

Monday, June 9th.

The gold market ruled hard this morning. Twelve thousand ounces changed hands at the first ring; the price opened at $32.40, fell to $2.20, and closed at $2.00, say 2231 or premium.

Banks had something to do with the firmness of gold this morning.

Exchange hardened at yesterday's prices—a fair amount of business was done in francs at 4.98 to 4.98½ on Paris and France, and as high as 5.01 on London—while there was good activity in Some gold was shipped in the packet today.

Patriotic Bonds were weaker opening at 67 and closing at 66.80. Internal Bonds were dull and weak. Catalogues ranged up to 81, closing at 83.01. The Plaided bond was quoted at 67½.

The following is a summary of the business effected in stocks and shares at the New York Stock Exchange:

We see by dates of 13th ult. that the all in the gold premium here produced an excellent effect in the London market.

the public. These land clearing companies were pledged so far beyond their means that even at the present low price of Celulas they are not worth redemption. The bank was therefore necessitated to buy them in at the foreclosure sales and hold them for whatever they may be worth. The bank, in a series of advertisements, now calls for tenants to rent them, which may be the proper way out of the business, but we cannot think of this as good as placing the properties in the hands of a few real estate brokers, who, with their own selection, would be able to secure for the bank the best tenants and best rents, although in a matter of such great im-importance the widest publicity should be given, we note that only one city paper publishes the notices: all papers having wide country circulation should have received the advertisement, in the hope that the well-to-do sheepfarmers and estancieros might be tempted to bid for the tenancy. Such, however, is not the opinion of the Bank Board, and although we have received none of those advertisements from the Bank, still, with a view to securing the interest of

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf of a book. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor creases and discoloration, characteristic of old paper. The left edge of the page is bound into a dark, possibly black or dark brown, inner cover material. The overall lighting is even, highlighting the subtle variations in the paper's tone.
